For those interested in the subject of the Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) of government (in any country or nation), I'll be doing an extensive in depth history of and explanation of governments audited financial statements. I'll take phone calls with questions about your own individual line items and balance sheets and help with your comprehension of the terms used in this organized criminal "creative accounting" fraud.

Hi Clint what’s the best way to answer someone about the City of Detroit when it comes to the CAFR...in particular why would they let a major city pretty much fail if there were millions and billions in investments to do something about it? Is a good explanation that they let the “public” side of the ledger fail while the corporation of Detroit is actually strong but that wealth is not for the people or their services? Why/how can it be bankrupt?

Hi Clint how do you answer people when they ask how Detroit could be bankrupt with millions and billions in investment funds?

I show them in the CAFR! I try and make them understand that government reports in NET instead of GROSS assets – like you showing your paycheck total after tax. And I try to explain that the money and wealth does not belong to the people, but to the municipal corporation. They do what they want without need of public vote or approval.

The city is not bankrupt like you and I can be, instead it allows itself loopholes to show on paper it has no money (hiding assets with fake “future” liabilities).

Here’s my post on it:

I love listening to when a person gets a new radio show and you can hear how nervous they are at first and then with a few shows under their belt they become very relaxed... although you are incredulous of the corruption... It is flowing quickly from a relaxed and educated truther... best damn truther working for us out there... nice job.

Thank Geno! That first show was definitely shaky, despite doing 100’s of shows before. Then I realized there’s no one to impress, it ain’t an interview, and I had nothing to lose! That spells liberation!!!

Thank you!! for putting it on page here.
I am reposting this and talking it up. Are you going to be talking CAFR Thu & Fri also, or is “Mon-Fri.” In other words, would “Call in Tonight” in the post title still find you talking CAFR?

Any concepts of picking a WEEK and organizing people to (nationwide, or even in every county of a particular state) pulling down their CAFRs (save to disk) at a certain entity level (maybe county) and send a message, “we’re watching?”

I’ve also been talking up the US Census of Governments as a way to actually comprehend some of the scope, type, and number (last done 2012 I think):

Lists and Structures of Governments on that page, the printout by state lists types of special-district govts, and by state names them, etc.

Structure of Governments

2012 Individual State Descriptions [PDF, 1,036MB]

Explains how each state is organized into the different types of local governments.

Explains how governments' responsibilities and authority vary from state to state, or within a state.

(put some html in comment, pls. adjust if it doesn't produce an active link).

I'm also wondering if a group of people went to one of the bankrupt ciities & worked together to show why the are not bankrupt. Imo, this would make more sense than each of us working individually. Could this not be a good way to get positive publicity on the CAFR & the lies we have been living under?

Loving Cafr School.....I believe it makes watching the training videos more understandable or perhaps its that watching the Stockton video several times more comes to light.

Thanks for all you do

Hi Clint

Just to let you know that your research is being used in the UK to help someone who is facing prison for refusing to pay his council tax as we know it, as it is paid in part to foreign entities which is against the Magna Carta and his oath of office as an ex-policeman.

Your words do not fall on deaf ears, we are working on it, so sincerely thank you. My contribution to your work is so well worth it.
